KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops and Live Stock
April 1, 1898.

For the April Crop Report replies were received from 108 correspondents, representing 105 counties.

WHEAT.

The condition of wheat crop averages, for all sections of the State, 101, being an improvement of 10 points during the month of March. On April 1, '97, the condition was 91. Considering the crop of the three subdivisions, western, central and south-eastern, we find the highest average condition in the central section, 103. In the western section the condition is 102, while the few counties reporting from the south-eastern section show an average of 98. On March 1 the condition by sections was: Western 93; central 91; no estimate being given for the south-eastern.

Remarks of correspondents show practically universal satisfaction with the prospect, an occasional complaint of too much rain being the only exception.

OATS.

The estimated average of oats compared with the average of '97 is 91 per cent of the average of that year. It is larger in the western section, 96, and smallest in the central section, 84. In the south-eastern section it is 92 per cent of '97 average.

Much of the crop was sown quite early and this is growing nicely. Rain has done little greatly interfered with the work of sowing and the crop will, on this account, be divided into two clearly defined parts, the very early and the very late.

BARLEY.

Every indication points to a largely increased acreage of barley both in the central and dark districts. Plant beds show an excellent condition, especially in the western section (dark tobacco); there the condition, as compared with normal, is 106. In the central section (light tobacco) the condition is 103, and the south-eastern section (principally barley) the condition is 101.

RICE AND SPRING LAMBS.

The revival of the industry of sheep raising does not seem any nearer to manifesting itself in an increased production of spring lambs; the number as compared with '97 being but 72 per cent of the production of that year. The central section leads with a production of 95 per cent, as compared with '97. In the western section the number is 92 per cent; while in the central section the number is 88 per cent.

PASTURES.

Pastures are in a very advanced stage for the season, and continuance of present conditions will ensure a good crop of grass to be ready for cutting in the average date.

FRUIT PROSPECTS.

April finds the fruit prospects unusually bright. Apples, peaches, plums, cherries, grapes and strawberries all promise full crops at present, but danger lies thick in the path of success. The unusual advance of the buds. In the western section the condition of the various fruits are: Apples, 90; peaches, 90; plums, 90; cherries, 90; grapes, 90; strawberries, 90. In the central section the conditions are: Apples, 90; peaches, 90; plums, 90; cherries, 90; grapes, 90; strawberries, 90. In the south-eastern section the conditions are: Apples, 100; peaches, 102; plums, 100; cherries, 90; grapes, 90; strawberries, 90.

The Wheelmen and the Tiger.

"It was close here," said the optimist planter, "that they caught a tiger credited with having done to death 200 natives. Only last week while out on a walk I saw a tiger leisurely pace across the road. Are you likely to be attacked? Well, I don't know. You may and may not, but I rather think a bigcyle would frighten a tiger."

Of course we said it would be rather nice to see a tiger, that it would give us an appreciated advantage. Still, that, as a matter of fact, we regretted having talked determinedly about the necessity of getting away with the moonrider. We tried to shake our host's convictions that it was at night tigers were on the prowl. But he would not accommodate us.

Maybe, we conjectured, the animals keep close to the roadway, watching for victims. So as our Bovers were spinning along in the mellow moonlight eyes were strained ahead for any prowling object. Once there was a quick steading down of pace. There was some heat running along in the shade. It wasn't big enough for a canal, it was too big for a dog, so it must be a tiger. Never a word was said. It pretended not to notice our presence. Still there was an affinity of kind. "Now, I wonder what brute that is?" one of us just asked in a pretended don't care voice. "Oh, nothing particular—hyena or something," was the reply. All the while the animal was belching in a distinctly mysterious way. We could see its dark form in the gloom. It was crawling about at a leisurely pace, occasionally rustling the branches. We settled down to a dead crawl in its tracks. Suddenly the brute stopped and a patch of moonlight. It was a poor little insignificant donkey.—Travel.

Where Do You Carry Your Money?

The two wives were discussing the pecuniary possibilities of their respective husbands, and they coincided with great unanimity until they reached the point of their own relation to the purse.

"My husband never gives me a penny unless he grows about my extra—"

"Mine does the same thing," attested the other.

"But I get even with him," and her face showed the color of satisfaction.

"How do you ever do it?"

"I go through his trouser pockets when he's asleep."

"Godness gracious!" exclaimed the other. "I wouldn't do that for anything."

"Why not? Haven't you a right to the money as well as they have?"

"Yes, but I wouldn't go through my husband's trousers pockets for it."

"I'd like to know why?" said the other, quite indignant at the apparent reproach.

"Because," blushed the other, "he carries his money in his waistcoat pocket."—Pearson's Weekly.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows:

"At that time the goods were unobtainable in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word. It is the same in hundreds of communities. Where ever the good quality of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is known, it has no equal."

Heads Toward the Sun.

Mrs. Alice Tweedie, in a recent narrative of her experiences in Finland, tells how she and her sister tried to escape from the glare of the six months' day by having their beds made up with the pillows at the feet, instead of at the head, that they might face fewer windows and the high daylight as a result.

They were successful, but the owner of the girl who made the beds, overcome by shyness sufficiently to inquire timidly of their success.

"It is a part of the English ladies' religion to sleep the wrong way round!"

Jains and Animals.

The Jains have a large hospital for sick and aged animals at Bombay. Just before the gates are a number of dead dogs and cats.

In the next court are cows and oxen. In the next court are disabled horses, while in others are dogs, cats, monkeys, sheep, goats, birds, fowls and reptiles.

The Jains believe that the souls of men and Brahmins are transmigrationists. There was no hospital for women in India till the Women's Foreign Missionary society established one in Bareilly.

NOT ALWAYS UNDERSTOOD

A fact often overlooked, or not often understood, is that women suffer as much from distressing kidney and bladder troubles as men.

The trouble is attended with a great deal of suffering, and for that reason many a woman, because of inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often mistaken, and thinks she has general weakness or some trouble of some sort.

The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided by setting urine aside for twenty-four hours; a medical examination will then be attended with a great deal of suffering, and for that reason many a woman, because of inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often mistaken, and thinks she has general weakness or some trouble of some sort.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

That pimple on your arm, those eruptions, itching and burning nose, just as surely indicate impurities in the blood, which should have prompt and careful attention, as do boils, carbuncles, ulcers, skin rheum and the severest forms of scrofula. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all humors of the blood of every form and degree.

That Thirst Feeling.

So common in the spring, is also due to the weak, this depleted condition of the blood. Make your blood pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will be strong and ready for work, will have good appetite and good health.

Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring. In the spring I was all worn out and very sick, suffering more than ever from a scrofulous humor which had infected me ever since I was a child. My limbs were a mass of fiery red which itched and burned unbearably. After I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, used six bottles, and since then I have been able to do my work, including my washing and ironing and my house cleaning."—MRS. IDA M. POTTER, Connant, Ohio.

after the first bottle I felt very much improved. I took it all four bottles, and was much pleased with the benefit derived. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a household word with us, and we have great faith in this medicine."—ELIZABETH BERRY, 137, 141 Warren Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Tired All The Time.

"I was feeling very miserable, was tired all the time and had no appetite. I felt sore all over my body. I had no strength in my limbs. I was obliged to quit work. I suffered severe pains in my back and limbs, could not eat or sleep and was losing flesh. I was also troubled with a spinal affection. I read articles about Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it. When I had finished one bottle I felt a great deal better. I gained in health and strength, and am now as well and strong and healthy as I ever was in my life. I know Hood's Sarsaparilla purified my blood and gave back my health and strength."—J. M. CARR, Columbus, Ohio. Remember, there's no substitute for Hood's
